Central Indiana Pork Conference

This is an era of change for the Pork Producer. New challenges and opportunities continue to present themselves. We have developed this conference to provide producers with information and tools to assist you in facing these issues.

What is the Outlook for the Pork Industry in 2010? How should producers respond to the corn mycotoxin issue? What strategies can producers take in dealing with contracts? What is the current regulatory climate and how will it impact producers?

We invite Pork Producers and anyone involved in the Swine Industry to join us in Rossville as we focus on these and other issues.
