PURDUE UNIVERSITY COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

Dear Cow-Calf Producer,

The North Central Indiana Cow-Calf Workshop is slated for Friday, February 22, 2019, at the Stony Pike Livestock Auction Facility in Logansport, Indiana. Join us for this educational workshop geared to help beef producers improve their operations.

What will 2019 bring for the cattle markets? Purdue Extension will provide a market update which will discuss the market trends and expectations to kick-off the program.

Dr. Kara Stewart, Purdue Animal Sciences, will discuss practices in post-partum cow management. Dr. Stewart will explore effective practices in post-partum management and ways for producers to implement them.

Dr. Kelli Werling, Indiana Board of Animal Health, will discuss the keys to traceability and biosecurity. This presentation will include a look into the growing demand for traceability in the cattle industry and its uses in disease outbreak and control.

Register today by calling the Carroll County Cooperative Extension Office at (574) 967-3538
